PROGRAM INFORMATION

The 13th FACM conference focuses on mathematical and computational aspects of materials science, mathematical biology, computational wave propagation, biological and microscale fluid dynamics, statistics, and biostatistics. Researchers in these areas are invited to address the development of mathematical techniques for application to challenging problems. For additional conference information, see:

Applications are solicited for contributed talks from postdoctoral fellows and students. Submissions can be made on the conference website. Selected applicants will receive full support for travel. Other contributions for the conference will be presented as posters. Funds are available for partial support of travel expenses for graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, and junior faculty poster presenters. Applications must be submitted by April 8, 2016. Notification of acceptance will be sent out via email by April 22.
